"Proud to be from Georgia"

After having dug to a depth of 10 feet last year, a New York Scientist found traces of copper wire dating back 100 years and came to the conclusion, that their ancestors already had a telephone network more than 100 years ago.

Not to be outdone by the New Yorkers, in the weeks that followed, a California archaeologist dug to a depth of 20 feet, and shortly after, a story in the LA Times read: 'California archaeologists', finding traces of 200 year old copper wire, have concluded that their ancestors already had an advanced high-tech communications network a hundred years earlier than the New-Yorkers.

One week later, The Atlanta Journal, a local newspaper in Atlanta, GA reported the following: After digging as deep as 30 feet in his pasture near Jonesboro, GA...Bubba Brown, a self-taught archaeologist reported that he found absolutely nothing. Bubba has therefore concluded that 300 years ago, Georgia had already gone wireless!!!

Just makes you proud to be from Georgia!

Thanks to Tracie Morris from JEMC for sharing this!
